

Prayer For A New School Year

Dear God,

Here I am starting a whole new year in school. I sure do need your help! This school stuff is hard. It's not just the teachers and all the extra homework. It's the kids in school. Some of them are just, plain difficult to deal with. Let alone, love. Help me, God!

The Bible does say in Philippians 4:13 that "I can do all things through Christ Who strengthens me." I am praying right now, Lord, that You give me the strength I need to start this school year. Help me to see the other kids just as You see them. Help me to love the other kids just as You love them. Help me to be understanding and patient when my teachers seem to give me more than I can handle.

When my classes and life at school get tough, send Your Holy Spirit to remind me that You have given me all of the tools that I need. You have given me Your Fruits of the Spirit when dealing with this life. You will never leave me nor will You forsake me. Thank You for loving me enough to see me through this school year.

I give You all the Praise and Thanks for going ahead of me and preparing a good plan just for me. Thanks for Your protection in all that I do, and Thanks for giving me favor with my teachers. I know that You will be right beside me as I take every test, and You will guide me to help those kids who may need some extra love and understanding.

I thank You, God, that You are on my team. I just want You to know that I am on Yours.

To You belongs all the Glory!

Love and Thanks,
Taffy
